Why

Current civil-military relationships often fall short of what is needed to meet human security needs. Changing global antagonisms and hybrid conflicts call for innovative, Whole-of-Society approaches to conflict transformation.

What

The purpose of the UNCG Joint Civil-Military Interaction (JCMI) Research and Education Network is to bring civil and military actors and scholars together to investigate issues impacting civil-military interaction in peacekeeping and humanitarian actions.

JCMI is based on communication, planning, and coordination among international, national, and local non-military actors and military leaders before, during, and post-crisis to facilitate the mutual effectiveness and efficiency of each.

How

1. Establish and strengthen partnerships among JCMI actors
2. Build international collaboration
3. Inform and educate policymakers regarding JCMI
4. Promote public policy initiatives that advance JCMI within peacekeeping and humanitarian response communities.
